ASIGNATURA: INGLES	PROFESOR (A): SERGIO ANDRES SALAS MURILLO	GRADO: 5°
PERIODO: IV	FECHA: SEMANA DEL 15 SEPTIEMBRE AL 24 DE OCTUBRE	NÚMERO DE HORAS:

CLASE 40'	EVIDENCIAS Y REFERENTE CONCEPTUAL	ESTRATEGIAS DE ENSEÑANZA Y APRENDIZAJE	RECURSOS	INSTRUMENTOS DE EVALUACIÓN
5°A: 15-09-2025 5°B: 15-09-2025	MASS MEDIA VOCABULARY AND USED TO. Identifica medios de comunicación a partir del vocabulario correspondiente en inglés. Ubica correctamente la estructura "Used to" en una oración.	This lesson begins with a warm greeting and welcome, along with informing students about the start of the 4th term. Students regularly recite a motivational phrase that embodies each school term, such as the one for the fourth term, as part of their routine. Dream big, work hard, and finish strong! The last term is here, let's end this year with joy and success! D. Then, the main topic for this session is presented through a brief and suitable definition along with a mass media vocabulary list, also the structures for using Used to. MASS MEDIA VOCABULARY 	School supplies Laptop PowerPoint presentation.	Participación Concentración y atención en clase.

Used to

Afirmativo

Sujeto + used to + verbo infinitivo

I used to travel a lot

Solía viajar mucho

Negativo

Sujeto + didn't + use to + verbo infinitivo

I didn't use to eat fast food but now I do

No solía comer comida rápida pero ahora sí

Interrogativo

Did + sujeto + use to + verbo infinitivo ...?

Did you use to work in this company?

¿Solías trabajar en esta compañía?

Right after that, the teacher shows pictures of different mass media (TV, newspaper, smartphone, etc.), Then, Students identify each one (guided with simple questions:

What is this? Do you use it every day?

The class as a whole sparks a short class discussion about: Which media do you use most?

Later, the teacher reviews pronunciation and makes sentences:

Examples:

-I watch TV.

		-I read a newspaper. Then, the teacher continues the lesson by explaining the use of “Used to” with a simple timeline on board: Past → I used to play video games every day. Now → I don’t play video games every day. Contrast examples: I used to read comics, now I watch YouTube. I used to listen to the radio, now I listen to music on my phone. To go over the vocabulary, a Guessing Activity is conducted. The teacher is going to show some mass media while students guess what that is. Once the previous activity is finished, the class moves on with a Pair Activity. In pairs, students write 2 sentences: One with “used to” about their past. One with now about their present. Example: I used to watch cartoons, now I watch movies. Eventually, the teacher asks 2-3 volunteers to share some examples using “Used to” and mention some mass media. Example:

5A: 5B:	DESCRIBING ACTIONS Identifica acciones a partir de su descripción en inglés.	I. The class commences with a warm greeting and welcome. Then, students recite some motivational phrases that represent each school term, ending with the current one, the fourth school term, as part of their routine. "Dream big, work hard, and finish strong! The last term is here, let's end this year with joy and success!" D. The teacher continues with a warm-up to give students an overview of what the class will be about. The teacher mimes an action in two ways (walking fast vs slow), the students guess: "Is the teacher walking fast or slow?" Consequently, the teacher tells the class "Today we will learn how to describe actions — how people do things." After that, he lets the class know the objectives for the current lesson, as well as a definition of the main topic "Describing actions" and some	School supplies Laptop PowerPoint presentation. 		He arrives late. The boy is kind. My friend is very creative. The class joins some fun and productive activities that promote cooperative work and reinforce the knowledge of students. -Role-play Cards: The teacher gives cards with actions (“speak politely”, “arrive late”, “draw creatively”). Students act it out, while others describe it: “She is speaking politely.” -Pair Work – Interview Students interview a partner with questions like: • Do you usually run fast or slow? • Are you polite or rude at school? • Are you curious? Partners answer using target vocabulary. C. Finally, a quick review takes place to put their knowledge to the test, in which the teacher shows a word, and students make a sentence aloud. And reflect on the question Why is it important to describe how people do things? Assessment: Draw yourself doing two actions and write two sentences. Example: “I run fast.” / “I speak politely.”

Then, students recite some motivational phrases that represent each school term, ending with the current one, the fourth school term, as part of their routine. “Dream big, work hard, and finish strong! The last term is here, let’s end this year with joy and success!” The class initiates with a guessing and interactive warm-up activity to check prior knowledge. Thus, the teacher shows flashcards/pictures of places and students shout the name: “Park!” - “Library!”, e.t.c. Then, he pops up some questions: Do you like the park? Is your house near or far from school? D. The lesson continues by defining what a place is, and how to describe it, providing examples of places, and including a list of adjectives to describe them.

	Examples: My school is big and clean. The park is near my house and very nice. This street is narrow but beautiful. The museum is old and quiet. My bedroom is small but cosy. Once students note things in their notebooks, the lesson continues with a “Guess the Place” activity. The teacher describes places, and students try to guess which place it is. Examples: This place has many books. It is sometimes quiet. → (Library) This place is crowded. Children play here. → (Amusement park) This place is near the school. Police work here. → (Police station) Students answer: It’s the library! Subsequently, students work in pairs to draw and describe their favorite place. 1. Choose one place (park, road, building). 2. Draw it quickly. 3. Use at least two adjectives to describe it.

This is a city. It is crowded and modern. Besides that, the city is cosy.

C. Eventually, the teacher goes over the lesson by asking questions such as:

- Is the street tall or wide?*
- Is the library empty or crowded?*
- Is the police station near or far from your house?*

And finish with a reflection time:
Why are places important?
-Because each place has a purpose: to play, to learn, to help, to live.
